

INFORMATION-PRICE LIST: FLOWERS/NATURE PHOTOGRAPHS & DIGITAL FLORAL PRINTS

INFORMATION

Photographic Prints: Printing is done at a custom color photo lab. All prints are of the highest quality. The surface is a low luster.

Digital Floral Prints: These prints are created using one of Karen's flower photographs as a basis. The floral images are printed on a commercial grade inkjet printer using archival paper and inks. A textured watercolor paper is used that adds to the overall feel of a painting or art print.

Dry mounting is a process by which a print is permanently bonded to a sturdy 3/16" gatorfoam board. This is recommended for prints 11"x14" and larger to insure a smooth surface when hung. Dry mounted prints can be inserted easily into a ready-made frame. Dry mounting is not recommended for digital floral prints.

Laminating involves bonding a thin soft matte polyester film, with UV protection, to the front of the photo. The laminate provides a wonderful protective surface to photographs. Laminating a necessity if you plan to hang your mounted photographic print without a frame/glass for protection. It is not recommended for the digital floral prints.

Framing is available. Custom framing includes metal frame (choice of black, silver or gold metal) and UV protective glass. If the print is framed to the edge, spacers are used so that the surface of the print does not touch the glass. If the print is matted, the window mat is made from white archival mat board. For best results, photographic prints (11"x14" and larger) should be dry mounted before framing.

Ordering information is available on the flowers/nature order form.
